

Part of Stolen Jewelry Received.

W. H. Hawkins, Hendersonville's popular jeweler has located a portion of his stolen goods taken from his store last August 1st. A warrant was served on a pawnbroker in Spartanburg yesterday for the recovery of a very fine watch in his possession valued at $175. Hyman August is charged with being a fugitive from justice.

Mr. Hawkins stated to a Herald reporter that he expected to have the necessary papers from Governor Kitchens office for his man and the case would be pushed to the full extent of the law.

The following was taken from yesterday's issue of the Spartanburg Herald:

Following the receipt here yesterday of a bench warrant from Hendersonville, N. C., charging Hyman August, proprietor of the New York Loan office, No. 134 East Main street, with grand larceny, Alexander Flemming, sergeant of police, swore out a warrant against August, charging him with being a fugitive from justice.

This is the aftermath of the recovery from August last week, through legal proceedings, of a watch valued at $175, which, with other jewelry worth more than $1,000, was stolen from the store of W. H. Hawkins & Son in Hendersonville on the night of August 1, last.

August will be taken today before Magistrate S. M. Wetmore and given an opportunity to furnish bond for his release, pending his extradition to North Carolina. The governor of North Carolina will be given twenty days, under the laws of this state, in which to apply to the governor of South Carolina for the extradition of August. If requisition papers do not come here within that time August will be freed.

It will be recalled that August explained his having the stolen watch in his possession by saying he bought it for $45 on the Bowery in New York on August 7, 8 or 9; he was not sure of the exact date. His explanation did not satisfy the Hendersonville people, who will endeavor to show that he was not in New York on these dates.

The watch was identified by the number placed on it by the Hawkins firm in repairing it. It is owned by M. King, a wealthy resident of Seneca, who has a summer home at Flat Rock, near Hendersonville.

The North Carolina warrant was issued by Mr. Pace, clerk of court at Hendersonville, by the direction of the judge presiding over court there.

Samuel J. Nichols is August's attorney.

The recent railroad article in the Daily Herald promises to bear fruit.

Mr. P. F. Patton and Mr. J. Williams left this morning for Bat Cave, where they will hold a conference with Mr. Paton, the Clinchfield engineer who is surveying the Isothermal electric line.

Mr. Paton started this morning on the survey of the line from Rutherfordton to Asheville, via Hickory Nut Gap and Fairview. He is a Clinchfield man and has a large force of men with him.

There seems to be a well-defined sentiment here that something should be done to interest either the Isothermal or the Knoxville and Greenville, and the trip today of Messrs. Patton and Williams is said to be the first step in that direction.

Speaking about the railroad article in a recent issue of the Herald, ex-Sheriff J. Williams said:

"The Herald is doing a valuable public service in drawing the attention of the people of Hendersonville to the present railroad situation as it affects this town. 'The need of a business men's organization here was never more apparent than right now, for had we such an organization it might be possible to take suitable action in the matter which would benefit Hendersonville.'

"Of course, there can be no argument whatever as to the vast benefit the town would receive were either of these two roads to touch here. At all events there is nothing to prevent us, when the proper time comes, from building an electric line to connect with the Isothermal at Bat Cave.

"Bat Cave is fourteen miles from Hendersonville, and nine miles of the distance is now graded—and graded perfectly. I think that might be feasible—to build a connecting link, I mean—but if we could get either of the two roads you speak of to come here it would be much better."

Officer J. D. Leach was probably fatally shot, last night, at Green River, by Charles Morgan, as he was about to arrest him for disturbing religious services in the church near the Green River Manufacturing company's mill.

The wounded officer was taken to the Mission hospital, Asheville, this morning, on the early train. It is believed the wound will be fatal. Morgan escaped and is still at large. One of his companions, Charles Ward, is in the county jail.

It appears that a crowd of boys and young men from up the river entered the church last night and raised a disturbance. Officers were sent for, and on their appearance the crowd left. Soon returning, however, the row was continued, guns were drawn but no shots fired.

They were ejected from the building and as the officers attempted to arrest Morgan and Ward they turned suddenly—a snake's tongue of flame split the darkness—a sharp report—and Officer Leach fell, writhing, in his tracks, shot through the bowels.

Ward drew and snapped his gun at the same instant, but the weapon failed to explode. He dropped the gun and escaped, but was captured and brought to town by Deputy Sheriff Zeb Stroup.

LOCAL TRADE LOYALTY.

No word appeals more strongly to the average person than loyalty. We all love to be spoken of as loyal to family, friends, country and to our ideals. We should also include our home city.

There is no doubt of our sincerity in this and we would feel very much offended were it questioned, but is this loyalty always of the right sort; is it intelligent and active, or is it sometimes a sentimental and pleasing fancy with which we delude ourselves?

The happiness of the people of a city depends largely on the prosperity of the community as a whole, and this prosperity depends in part upon the amount of money circulating there. The more money the people send away for things they can buy from their own merchants, the poorer the community will become and, conversely, the more they spend at home, the more the place will thrive.

Do those who patronize distant mail order houses ever think of the harm done? If all the good people in Spartanburg, for instance, should ignore the local merchants and for one year buy all their supplies in Chicago, Buffalo and New York, there would be "For Sale" signs on the Palmetto building and other principal business places, the Kennedy Library, the churches and other public buildings which are a part of the prosperous life in Spartanburg. The same principle applies to all communities.

Patronage of the home merchants is the life of a city. These mail order houses by offering attractive (!) premiums with indifferent goods, have drawn from us large amounts of money which if spent at home, would have helped to pay for schools, paving, lighting and general civic improvement. Outside business houses do not pay any part of our city taxes.

But, "Business is Business," some say. Yes, but business is more than that, it is reciprocity, and it should be apparent to every one that business dealings with those who are working for the same local interests as ourselves will be far more productive of good, than trading with people who are far away, who buy nothing from us and whose only interest in our community is the amount of money they can get out of it.

Do you recall when times have been hard that these mail order houses ever extended you credit to help you over the hard places? Do they ever contribute any money or assist in any local enterprises in Spartanburg? Will they? Not in a thousand years—it's money down, or no goods. The local merchants are those to whom we must then turn for assistance but how can we do so with good grace or reason unless we support them in prosperous times?

They are alert, intelligent and progressive and, if given the opportunity, will sell better goods at the same, or lower prices, than the mail order houses can or will, and deliver them at once—no express charges, no long delays, no disappointments.

Let us cease, then, enriching a few people in whom we have no sort of interest, at the cost of lasting injury to our own community. Try supporting our own home business for a time.

Surely loyalty, in this instance means spend your money at home—Spartanburg Journal.

Pellam and Tilden Co. were tried before Squire Hood yesterday on charge of assaulting the son of Dave Orr. The young men were brought in by Deputy Stroup and the case settled by payment of the costs.

Miss M. D. Peden, for the past seven years a resident of Hendersonville, during which time she has been associated with the Hendersonville Light and Power Company, has returned to her home in Laurinburg, N. C. Miss Peden's many sincere friends here will regret to hear that the state of her health made this change advisable.

Rev. J. J. Justice, with the aid of Deputy Conner, has recovered his lost pocketbook.

Spend your money amongst the people who enable you to make it.

You can buy what you want in Hendersonville—and buy it for less.

Hendersonville as Summer Capital

The Columbia State recently suggested that President Taft select Hendersonville as the summer capital of the United States—a very sensible and kindly suggestion indeed.

Should the country's chief executive decide to act on the State's suggestion, he has only, we are sure, to indicate which one of the many superb country homes in this county he desires and it will be turned over to him absolutely without any expense to the United States treasury or to himself.

The Charlotte Observer in commenting on the State's excellent idea, says:

For timeliness few suggestions could surpass one recently appearing in The Columbia State to the effect that President Taft should select Hendersonville as the summer capital for 1911. It will be recalled that the lady who owns the cottage at Beverly which has understudied the White House during the past few months has declined to renew the lease, this necessitating a move of some kind. Why not take advantage of this necessity and transfer the center of next summer's activities to the most delightful mountain region in America? We heartily endorse our contemporary's suggestion.

As is to be expected The State does not let slip the opportunity to take a shot at this city, but in so doing is somewhat unusually frank. Noting as one of the attractions of Hendersonville that it is near Flat Rock and remote from Charlotte, it adds:

"One may not easily come to Hendersonville from Charlotte without traveling about 75 miles through South Carolina, which is a purifying and chastening influence for a Charlotte man."

Exactly what is connoted by "purifying" in this sentence we confess we do not know. Few residents of this section, however, will fail to be in sympathy with the State's use of "chastening." Like all other chastenings, moreover, this of the long, dull trip through the neighboring Commonwealth carries with it its own blessing in that when one returns to Tar Heel soil there is apt to be a keener appreciation of the inestimable privilege of residence in North Carolina.

Wounded Officer May Die.

A telephone message from the Mission Hospital, Asheville, states that Night Watchman Lynch's condition is about the same. The bullet has been located but not removed. His recovery is doubtful.

Charles Ward and George Davis, two of the men implicated in the shooting of Night Watchman Lynch, of the Green River Manufacturing Company, Sunday night, will be given a hearing before Squire Oats this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Ward is charged with carrying concealed weapons and with assault and attempt to kill an officer.

Davis will face charge of carrying weapons and disturbing public worship.

Charles Morgan, the man who fired the probably fatal shot at Lynch, has not yet been captured. A small reward has been offered for his apprehension.

Morgan hails from Polk and claims to be a bad man. He will be pleasantly remembered in Hendersonville as the festive gentleman, who, one day last year, terrorized Main street and assaulted Mr. John Smathers with a wicked looking knife.

Morgan remarked at that time that he was a bad man and came from Polk county. Energetic efforts are being made to locate and capture him.

Knocks Dr. Waldrop Down.

Dr. J. G. Waldrop was knocked down by Police Officer Will Garren, this afternoon, in the Climax Barber shop, while the two were engaged in an argument over the merits of a patent medicine, prepared and sold by the officer.

Dr. Waldrop bears a scalp wound from which the blood flowed freely, and an injured hand, as the result of the encounter.
